There's roughly 900 bottles of the blockbuster 2012 Hermitage Blanc les Rocoules. One of the more flamboyant whites from this region, this decadent, full-bodied, fat and heady effort gives up tons of caramelized fruits, citrus oil, quince and assorted tropical-like aromas and flavors. It's another pedal-to-the-metal styled white to drink over the coming decade. Located in tiny cellar in downtown Tain l'Hermitage, Marc Sorrel makes classic, old-school red and whites that are almost overflowing with character.
