Bacon fat, violets, blackberries and blueberry notes all flow from the complex, olive tapenade, meaty and medium to full-bodied 2014 Cornas Empreintes. Coming all from granite soils and aged in 25% new barrels, it has a supple, rounded texture, beautiful purity of fruit and ripe tannin, all suggesting it will keep for a decade.

Another young, progressive estate that's turning out a bevy of rock star wines is that of Eric and Joel Durand.
