The 2015 Corton-Perrieres Grand Cru, which comes from 0.65-hectares of vine, also sees 30% new oak and includes 90% whole bunch. The nose is charming with raspberry, cranberry leaf and sous-bois aromas. The tannin comes through quite strongly on the palate, showing good concentration with firm grip in the mouth, plenty of raspberry and strawberry fruit here with just a slight bitter note on the aftertaste. Still this will come together with 3-5 years in bottle.
